The most well-traveled Filipinos chose their most favorite cities and cited the basis for their selection. Based on the majority, these were the key criteria used in the order of importance:

- Richness in local arts, culture, and history
- Great cuisine and lots of food options
- Scenic views and natural environment
- Quality of life and livability with an easy going and relaxed vibe
- Friendliness of the people
- Safety

- Transportation efficiency and accessibility
- Cost of living
- Diversity & broad offerings of things to do and see
- Vicinity to other places of interests

There were other minor criteria cited such as being modern and massive bustling areas, great shopping, and hub for world travelers.
